Cross-border workers

You might register as a cross-border worker, if you work in Denmark with a Danish employment contract and live in another EU/EEA country.

You will be considered as a cross-border worker if you

- only work in Denmark
- come to Denmark to work and return to your home country on a daily or weekly basis
- come to Denmark to work for 2-4 weeks and hereafter return to your home country for e.g. one week and return to Denmark to work 2-4 weeks etc.

You will not be considered a cross-border worker, if you

- also work in your home country (unpaid voluntary work is accepted)
- give up your main residence in another EU/EEA country

You can do all the necessary registration online.

Step 1 Work permit (Step 1)

Step 2 Apply online for a personal tax number and a tax card (Step 2)

Step 3 Apply for a special health insurance card (Step 3)

Step 1. Work permit:

If you are a cross-border worker from a Nordic, EU/EEA country or Switzerland, you do not need a residence and work permit to Denmark. All you need is a tax card (step 2) and a special health card (step 3).

If you are a citizen from a non-EU/EEA country/Switzerland, you must apply and obtain a work permit, before you are allowed to start working in Denmark. Further information for non-EU/EEA/Swiss citizens at www.newtodenmark.dk. In addition, you should possess a valid residence permit in the country of residence.

Step 2. Apply for a personal tax number and a tax card

If you earn more than 75% of your annual income in Denmark, you can ask to be taxed according to the cross-border worker rules. As a cross-border worker, you are, as a rule, entitled to the same tax allowances and deductions as people living in Denmark.

You can apply for the tax card and a personal tax number via online application or complete and submit form 04.063. You find online application service and form on www.skat.dk > English > Shortcuts – Your guide to working in Denmark > Select language (EN, DE, LT, PL, RO) > Applying for a personal tax number and a tax card (direct link).

When you completed the online application or completed and submitted the form 04.063 in full and attached the documents required (signed employment contract, marriage certificate (if you are married), passport/national ID card and work permit (Non-EU/EEA/Swiss citizens only), you will receive a preliminary tax card (forskudsopgørelse) and a personal tax number. You will find your personal tax number on the top of your preliminary tax card. Your employer will withhold your tax from your salary and pay it directly to the tax authorities. If you do not apply for a tax card, your employer will deduct 55% tax from your salary.

Step 3. Apply for a special health insurance card

When you have obtained the personal tax number, you can move on to step 3.

As a cross-border worker you have a right to health insurance scheme services in both your country of residence and in Denmark. Your family members, who do not have health insurance of their own, are also insured via the Danish national health insurance scheme. However, family members, who live in your home country, may only receive medical treatment in their country of residence and in accordance with that country's laws. You can apply to be enrolled in the Danish health insurance system on www.lifeindenmark.dk > Cross-border commuters > Special health insurance card. If you are entitled to be enrolled, you will receive the special health insurance card by post to your address in your home country. The special health insurance card is issued by Udbetaling Danmark. If you have any questions about the special health insurance card, please contact Udbetaling Danmark, telephone +45 70 12 80 81.
